Sunfilled weekend for Whitney Rodeo

Beautiful weekend weather brought good crowds to Heinsburg 4-H Club's Whitney Lake Rodeo this weekend, making up at least in part for last year's disappointment of a rained out Sunday performance, and encouraging the organizers in their plans to build permanent rodeo corrals for the annual event.

Sunday was the lucky day for the Lakeland Rodeo Association competitors, with all but three of the trophy winners showing their prowess in that performance.

Canadian Novice Bareback Champion Wade Graves of Williams Lake, B.C. proved a match for Les Trach's award-winning bronc, Hot Chocolate, scoring a 74 to win the event, sponsored by Lakeland Tire, Little Implements, Toronto Dominion Bank and Mazzei Oil and Gas.

Dean Komant of Sherwood Park was the lone qualifier in two days of Saddle Bronc action, with a 65 point ride on Mountain Man. Gordie's Tire, Elk Point, sponsored the Saddle Bronc event.

Twisting, turning yearling bulls gave the LRA's Junior Steer Riders ample opportunity to test their skills, with only 3 qualified rides over the two days. Darrell Krawiec of Swan Hills marked a 72 with an outstanding effort for first place, Clint Jackson of Minburn placing second with 65, and Mark Shirley of Edson third with a 62.

A 71-point tie for the lead in Bull Riding after Saturday's performance, between Shawn Vant and Bernie Bowie, could not be beaten Sunday, but evolved into a 3-way tie, when Derek Hehr of St. Paul scored an identical mark in his fine ride on B3 Sting. Fishing Lake Settlement Council sponsored the Bull Riding event.

Another tie for top honors came in the Calf Roping, when Mark Fletcher of Wainwright equalled Saturday's leader, Blu Noyes,

HANGING IN FOR A WIN—Darrell Krawiec of Swan Hills ended up sidesaddle, but kept a tight grip on the bull rope, and his other hand aloft until those 1-o-n-g 8 seconds were over, and the judges had added up his 72 point score. Keeping a watchful eye on the proceedings was bullfighter James Harder.

Three champs at golf tourney

Bill Milholland's 75 foot birdie shot into the 9th Hole cup was a fitting climax to a day of exciting action at the Elk Point Golf and Country Club's Senior Men's, Ladies' and Junior Tournament

Sunday, winning the Championship Flight for this veteran Elk Point golfer, and delighting a crowd of spectators watching from the clubhouse deck.

Sunny skies smiled on the tournament, which saw Pearl Bespalko take top honors in the Ladies' Championship Flight, and Chris Cameron winning the Junior Championship.

Golfers from many areas of the Lakeland took part in the one day event.

Pug Young was the Senior Men's 1st Flight winner, with Bill Bespalko capturing the 2nd Flight and Ernie Hoeft the 3rd Flight.

Ann Letawsky won the Ladies' 1st Flight, with Bev Bespalko topping the 2nd Flight and Julia McMillan taking home the 3rd Flight trophy.

Michael Shymkiw won the Juniors' 1st Flight, while Scott Yavis was declared the Under 12 winner.

Long Drive winners were Ernie Hoeft, Men's, Pearl Bespalko, Ladies', and Ron Hornseth, Junior.

Chamber plans August recess

It will be business as usual at the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce Tourist Information Centre during August, while the Chamber takes a month's holidays from their bi-monthly luncheon meetings, it was decided at last Wednesday's regular meeting.

Small attendance during the summer prompted the decision for an August recess, with the regular schedule of meetings to resume on September 6. Any important matters which come up in the interim will be handled by committees.

A study of the Chamber's finances and the possibility of obtaining a STEP position through the Town of Elk Point led to an agreement that the Tourist Information Centre should continue with a time of 11.2 seconds. Crop Care, Marwayne and Heinsburg, East End Rentals and Woody's Trophy and Gift Shop sponsored the event.

'Grandpa' Jim Bailey certainly wasn't showing his age in the Steer Wrestling, bringing down his horned opponent in a slick 3.6 seconds to top the event, sponsored by Dave's Pizza, Elk Point Burger Bar, Hillside Texaco, Elk Point Truss, Vogel's UFA and J. Mazzei & Son Trucking Ltd.. Saturday's leader, Phil Campbell, placed second with 4.3 seconds.

Mark and Gordie Fletcher of Wainwright outroped a large contingent of Team Ropers, with a winning time of 6 seconds flat, in the final run of the rodeo, moving Saturday's leaders, Travis and Brian Spady to second place. Sponsors were Tags, Elk Point, Sharkey's Bus Lines, Heinsburg, Windsor Salt Co., Valley Gasland, Percy Best Gravel Hauling and Corral Cleaning, John and Kay Wozniak Texaco Bulk, Elk Point Insurance and Realty, CBM Confectionery and Hilltop Cafe.

Season leader Cindy Gamroth increased her $3000 margin in the Ladies' Barrel Racing with a winning time of 16.290 seconds Sunday, the only time of the performance to better Saturday's leader, Peggy Bergstrom, who clocked 16.418 in the event sponsored by Border Credit Union and Dennil's Garage of Dewberry, Stewart Sales of Vermilion, Double J Gas and Grocery and Mike's Trading Post, Heinsburg.

The winning time in the Junior Barrel Racing was also recorded Sunday, with Carolyn Metcalfe of Stony Plain marking 16.46. Sponsors were Sparky's Oilfield Service, Molly's Corner Cafe and Car Wash, and Woody's Trophy and Gift Shop. Sunday's performance also featured a Calf Scramble, with the cash prizes sponsored by Skolarchuk Brothers Farms, and a Best Dressed Cowboy and Cowgirl contest for the youngsters. Saturday, the tiniest rodeoers took part in the wild and woolly sport of Mutton Busting, courtesy of Hillebrand Farms.

RIDING FOR A FALL—Season leader Cory Haeberle of Viking found the Junior Steers at Whitney Lake a little hard to handle, and ended up in a premature bailoff. Bullfighter James Harder is wreathed by the tail of the irate animal as he stands ready to attract the animal's attention away from the rider.

CALF SCRAMBLERS—Brad Poitras, Lyle and Kyle Lawrence are nearly lost in the dust as they drag their quarry over the finish line in Sunday's calf scramble.

to operate 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily during August.

Lakeland Tourist Association Manager Lise Langevin and her summer assistant Shona Harper were special guests at the meeting. Ms. Langevin reported on the Association's successful membership drive, as well as the upcoming $5 million Team Tourism promotion, which will supply funding on a 50-50 basis for promotion of events and attractions throughout the province.

Ms. Langevin also touched briefly on the new Lakeland Tourist Guide, which will be in the preparation stages very shortly, and which is distributed not only in Alberta, but across Canada and around the world.

Two upcoming events of interest to both local residents and visitors to our area were mentioned. First is the antique car display which will be held in conjunction with the Agricultural Fair, on Saturday, August 20. The Agricultural Society plans to ask the Town for closure of 49 Avenue between 50 and 51 Streets for the afternoon event, which they anticipate may attract as many as 40 vehicles. Larry Demchuk, organizer of the car show, suggested to the Chamber that this would be a good occasion for a business promotion, with many people in town for the Fair and the show.

The following weekend, Kehevin will be holding their Inter-cultural Days, with an anticipated attendance of up to 8000 people, which will again bring a number of people to Elk Point, with definite promotional possibilities.

It was suggested that lists of events such as these could be made up for distribution at the Tourist Booth.

The need for a Chamber phoning committee was once again mentioned, with Millie Orr volunteering to attempt setting up a fan-out phoning system to remind members of meeting dates.

Recreation and Culture Board news

By Gail Kozicky

Members of the Elk Point Municipal Recreation and Cultural Board met for their regular monthly meeting, July 6, 1988.

CRC Grant applications were reviewed and the Board made appropriate recommendations to Town Council for final approval. Groups sharing the 1988 grant allocations will receive notification shortly.

Revisions to the Recreation Master Plan are complete. I would like to thank all the individuals and groups who contributed to the plan through the needs surveys circulated in May. This updated Master Plan will provide information necessary in improving recreation and culture in Elk Point up to 1991.

Town Administrator Pat Vincent reported that all projects are progressing well at the recreation property. The ball diamonds are taking shape, with shale to be delivered soon.

Board members made a recommendation to Town Council that a steering committee be set up to develop a concept for a new Community Services Centre. The needs survey showed improvements to the existing facility or building a new facility to be quite important to the residents of the town of Elk Point.

SCRUB-A-DUB-DUB—Elk Point Hire-A-Student's Odd Job Squad and Hire-A-Student coordinator Scott Pry-sunka get down to suds and elbow grease at their Car Wash last Thursday at Tags. The weatherman cooperated nicely with the project, both in giving the young people a number of muddy vehicles to wash and hot sun to speed the drying process.

Summer Play Program

Fun In The Sun and Club 3/4 are well underway. There are twelve children registered in Club 3/4 and thirty children in Fun In The Sun. There has been more interest in Fun In The Sun, and we put these children on a waiting list so that later on they could be notified if space becomes available during the program. It is expected that daily attendance will drop as more families leave for holidays.

Club 3/4 and Fun In The Sun members participate in games, songs and crafts. The play leaders would like to thank all the parents who helped supervise the children and provide a snack for the first week. Playleaders Kate Courtier, Cheryl Demchuk and Tracy Boothman are looking forward to entertaining the children with the special activities planned over the summer.

Keep in mind the Summer Recreation Staff can be reached at the Family Services Centre, at 724-3800. Recreation and Culture summer hours are 8:00 a.m. to 12 noon weekdays. Call the office at 724-4409 or drop in to the 'old' courthouse.

Farm safely

Two tragedies involving tractors in recent weeks have pointed out the constant need for caution in the daily activities of farm family members. In the first incident, a farmer received critical injuries when the tractor he was operating to pack silage rolled over, pinning him underneath. In the second, a farm woman fell when the outside step she was riding on broke free and the tractor, operated by another family member, ran over her.

without shutting the machines off, jump off the back of tractors past whirling power takeoff shafts, and stand on the back of the grain truck to shovel out the box, just inches away from the gobbling mouth of the grain auger. They also leave grain trucks running in fields full of tender-dry straw swaths while the combine dumps, peer into the operating innards of various machines, and back up huge machines they can't see behind.

These are just things one does in the course of the farming year, and we've never gotten hurt, maimed or killed at it yet. Famous last words.

Steep embankments, such as are found along silage pits, are extremely hazardous, but farmers routinely operate their machines, and allow their children to operate these same machines, in the face of this danger. Riding on the step, fenders or drawbar of tractors and other implements is common practise for rural folks.

Taking care DOES take time, and perhaps a little extra effort. But keep in mind that hospitalization takes even more time, and a funeral could put you, or your loved one, out of the farming business forever.

Accidents only happen to other people, right?

Wrong.

The people who were hurt and killed were no doubt doing things they had done many times in the past, just as people clean out the pickups of balers and combines

Alberta Trails

Year of the raspberry

By Irene Magnusson

In China, 1988 is a Year of the Dragon. In Alberta (perhaps only the Elk Point area) I will designate it to be the Year of the Raspberry. Earlier, I thought it would be a year of the Saskatoon. And I don't mean to insinuate there are no saskatoons. There are lots of them. But they are not of a superior quality, a super-lushness, a beautiful big, black-and-loaded quality that says "These are the very best they can be!"

The saskatoons this year seem to have ripened in a most erratic fashion. Some are dried up, some are green, some are red, and a few big blacks—all on the same bush, the same clump, at the same time. I blame most of this on (a) the long dry spell, and heat earlier on, which caused the bushes to 'prune' themselves, and allowed a goodly number of the little green berries to dry up. Then we got a few showers (b) so some developed, smallish and lacking in juice. Then we got the down-pour (c) and whatever was still out there, undeveloped, decided to go ahead and amount to something and so they did. I'm sure any saskatoon lovers out there got their fill of them, as I have done. The best ones were to be found in the darkly shaded woods, although they were in smaller clumps. But not so dried up.

Raspberries come just a smidgen later. I saw quite a few wild raspberries, here and there in my travels, but since I have this gorgeous patch of bushes in my own yard, I don't look for wild ones too hard.

When it was hot and dry, I got the hose out (which is connected up to our old 'livestock' well) and let it sprinkle for hours at a time. The effort certainly paid off!

I guess we all measure berries by the painful, meaning a gallon ice-cream pail full. When the picking is good, I can fill one of these pails in about 40 minutes. I have filled a whole lot of those pails so far, and there are many more to go.

There are now jars of jam on my shelves, and the row is going to grow before this day is out. There are also rows of canned raspberries in jars on my shelves, and containers filled, dated and residing in the deep-freezer, as well as the many bowls of the lush red fruit which I gobble up

daily. (I like 'em!)

So I officially declare 1988 to be the Year of the Raspberry. I do hope you are able to participate in some way, picking, canning, eating—whatever. Mother Nature has contributed some real 'food for the gods' in the form of raspberries, this year of 1988.

Roadside and fenceline 'manna' in our area have always been supplied in the pre-road-spraying days—in the form of saskatoons, chokecherries, pincherries, and—taste treat of the ages—the wild strawberry. Of late, we have been progressively deprived of these, our birthright, and younger sprouts will have never known them. With the new policy I have been advised is now in effect, where they will only spray WHERE IT IS NEEDED, namely the noxious weeds, I feel it may only be a matter of time before we will have these great wild fruits back in our midst again. Already I see the burst of wildflowers along the way.

On two separate days, along two separate ways, I plucked bouquets of wildflowers along my homeward road from town. Fireweeds, fleabane, goldenrod, wild mint, peavine, vetch, bluebells, yarrow—all these lovely, colorful, beautiful flowers of our Alberta summer on display, in countless numbers where they are allowed to grow, harming no one, up-lifting our spirits and bringing joy to our hearts.

I have a choice of twelve different routes to follow, which will take me from home to 'my' town, some are much further than others, but all worth passing over now and then, just to see what is growing. On this day I was inclined to gather a bouquet of flowers, I decided to go a certain route, where I hoped to find some Indian paintbrushes, which had survived the plague of sprays, and were adorning a roadside ditch.

There they were, amongst a throng of other lovelies. I drew off and parked. Not many people go over that certain back road. And there, under my feet, red-ripe and tantalizing, a patch of wild strawberries!

I haven't been able to find more than one or two, just enough to remind me of the joys they once gave, for ages and ages. When we first came to the farm and when I was a kid, we walked the roadsides, picking these super-delicious berries.

Strawberry shortcakes, with fresh cream! Ice cream (home-made) with wild strawberries! Wild strawberry jam! Wild strawberries with rhubarb. Yes, all these and more. A bread and butter sandwich, with wild strawberries—what could be better?

We found them in gone-back fields, in the Depression years, when so many farmers left the land, and it laid idle, with perhaps a few range cattle grazing, just enough to keep the grass down. These fields weren't full of thistles and stinging nettles then, just grass—and wild strawberries.

I had no container in the car, but I do have determination. I made a nest of a paper towel and a couple of kleenexes, and picked those delicious berries until I could find no more.

They were a bit sandy, which washes out, and I had a feast, plus a containerful to put in the freezer for some distant time—perhaps my next birthday?—when I shall feel sad, and need something so divine to perk me up.

Just think, if they quit the ruddy spraying all over the place, we may find wild strawberries along the roadsides once again! Now—if we could just figure out some way to bring back the blueberries!

We had a 'heat wave' the other day. Temperatures on my thermometers showed 34 degrees Celsius, or a scorching 93 Fahrenheit (now I know why they changed to Celsius—who can spell Fahrenheit without a dictionary to look it up in?!) and I will admit I wilted. However this is not much more than a 'warm day' to those poor souls who swelter in the eastern provinces, or in the southern United States. I'm sure I couldn't take very many days of that, to say nothing of the 100 plus degrees common in some areas. All my energy runs out through my pores, I weigh a tonne (!) and nothing at all seems worth doing.

I told you about finding a clump of wildflowers new to me, here in my old schoolyard. Now I have my pictures back, they didn't turn out too bad, and I only wish I could show them to you in color. They are a lovely salmon-pink, with dark red (wine-colored) spots on their tongues. Spotted coral root is the name.

Now—back to the berry patch, the jam kettle, and finding matching lids. Next it will be pea-picking time.

WHAT'S NEWS at the Library

By Michelle Whitlock

This week the Library has put up a display for one of its new themes, 'Don't Take Aging Sitting Down'. It is a theme we plan to uphold in conjunction with the work and research that is being done for older citizens in the community of Elk Point. Our goal is to find better quality books for these citizens along with promoting the use of the large print book and talking book collections. We hope to bring many of the library services we offer to the attention of more older citizens and we urge people to continue using these services in the future.

The library also extends certain special services to those of a much younger age category: the elementary and pre-school children. Every week, as most people with young children know, we offer the Summer Reading program. This week, our elementary program promises to be a chilling experience as we make ice cream. The flavor is a surprise, so if your children like ice cream--this will be a temptation they can't resist! The pre-schoolers, on the other hand, will be entertained by our debut Reader's Theatre and a short dance called the 'Busy Scizzors'. So all of you pre-schoolers bring your dancing shoes for this event.

One of our other fringe benefits is our weekly Thursday Matinee. This week, thanks to Rhondaray Confections, our movie is The Golden Seal. This movie is popular with children of all ages, so all are welcome to join in! Remember, the matinee is at 2:00 p.m. and it's FREE!!

New in our collection of books this week are some books you've all been waiting for. In the adult fiction category we purchased Zoya by Danielle Steele, To Be the Best by Barbara Taylor Bradford, The Last Princess by Cynthia Freeman, and Treasure by Clive Cussler. In the Juvenile section our newest addition is numbers 4 to 10 in the Mandie Series by Lois Leppard. I know that those who requested that these books be purchased will be down here before you can close a book.

Derwent hosts overwhelming Millennium

By Bev Bepalko

The Lakeland Ukrainian Catholic Parishes, under the spiritual direction of Rev. Joseph Royer, hosted their celebration of 1000 years of Ukrainian Christianity on July 16 and 17 at the village of Derwent. These Lakeland Parishes include Lloydminster, Vermilion, Derwent, Ascension, Angle Lake, Elk Point, Northern Valley, Bonnyville, Glendon and Iron River. Derwent was chosen for this celebration because it is centrally located and also it has the largest church.

The day began on Saturday at 1 o'clock with a large line of people for holy confessions. Once this was completed, about 200 people gathered at the Memorial Site behind the church for a memorial service for deceased ancestors, pioneers, and those who died for their faith.

Later, all gathered at the large

Derwent school grounds for a family outdoor picnic. The meal was pot luck which was prepared by members from all the churches. The meal consisted of hot dogs, hamburgers and salads of one's choice. The desserts were of all varieties and added much color to the already decorated tables. People in numbers of over 300 came from near and far for the day.

Once the meal was over, again many marched to the Memorial Site for the Solemn Renewal of Baptismal Vows. Immediately after, 200 blue, yellow and white helium filled balloons were released to add color to the already full day.

The evening concluded with a wine and cheese social for the adults and also a youth social at the Derwent Recreation Centre. At the social, every parish made a display table which portrayed the history of their church and many Ukrainian cultural displays from decorated breads, to cross stitching and Easter eggs.

The social evening also had an entertainment program. A Ukrainian dance duet was done by Melonie Malachowski and Susan Onyk. Marion Hillebrand performed a solo to famous Ukrainian music in a well demonstrated sickle dance. Young Bradley Maluta tuned his violin and played three musical numbers. These young people must be congratulated on their fine performances as they are preserving much of the Ukrainian culture. The evening would not have been complete without a few comedy skits, one which showed how young people were matched in marriage in the early times. The other skit livened the evening with the ever melodious song of 'I Love My Baba'. Many in the audience wondered why 'Baba' had a moustache and hairy legs. The St. Stevens choir from Calgary, under the direction of Linda Dudar, sang two Ukrainian songs, one being the famous Ukrainian greeting song. The evening ended on a more serious note with a poem about all the churches.

Sunday morning, people were up bright and early. Many brought their recreational vehicles and had stayed overnight, while others travelled from near and far to be at the church for nine o'clock.

Parishioners assembled and prepared for the procession through the village. Every Parish made a banner which had the name of the church, the place it was located and a symbol of the Millennium on it. Every banner was made of a different color and was also differently designed. These banners were carried in the procession with members from the churches following their own banner. Crosses, icons, church and national flags were also a part of the procession. Divine Liturgy began promptly at ten o'clock with the welcoming and greeting of Our Eparch and Bishop Most Rev. D. M. Greschuk. This was done by Paul Bepalko and Katie Char-chun. A closed circuit TV camera was set up in the basement of the church to accommodate the some 850 people who could not be seated on the main floor of the church. The St. Steven's choir sang at the church also.

Once church had ended, all people with advance dinner tickets assembled at the Derwent Recreation Centre for a wonderful meal catered by D & S Catering of St. Paul. Some 700 people joined for this feast. At this time various presentations were made, some of them being presentations by government dignitaries to the individual churches, and also icons were given by Rev. Joseph Royer to the invited clergy from other areas. Welcoming speeches were given by various parish members including the youth. Most Rev. D. M. Greschuk closed the day with a wonderful speech to all and especially to our youth, as they are our tomorrow.

The preparation of this great celebration involved members from every parish with the patient guidance of Rev. Joseph Royer. Katie Charchun was the president of this Millennium and must also be commended on this great success. This celebration has brought the Lakeland Ukrainian Catholic Parishes closer together and has found lasting friendship among many of the members of this group.
